The office of Geo. H. Goodwin, broker, 18 State street, was robbed last night of $17,000, of which amount $7,000 was in gold and remainder in U. S. and other securities. The money was taken from a safe which was hauled into the middle of the floor and gutted. A person recently proposed to rent part of the office, and yesterday was engaged in papering the walls, but as he has failed to make his appearance to-day he is suspected of being the robber. No trace yet.

The opinion of Judge Huberon, of the City Council, excluding negro testimony, on the ground that Congress cannot annul the laws of Kentucky, is published.

RELIGIOUS NEWS. It is stated that the Methodist Church, on Chestnut-st., Portland, was saved by the precautionary measures of iron shutters to the windows, which it is said many of the Society opposed, when the church was erected. It is worth $70,000.

—More than forty years ago there was an agreement between the London Missionary Society and the American Board of Missions to consider the Equator the dividing line between their respective fields of operations in the Pacific Ocean. The missionary work has so far advanced that the two socities have met in what is called the Kingsmill group of islands, on the north, and Ellice's group, lying near and in the same longitude, on the south (15° west from Washington). In the former group the Americans have had a successful mission for many years commenced by the Christians of the Sandwich Islands.

—The Board of Domestic Missions of the Old School Presbyterian Church presented to their late General Assembly an elaborate report on the religious condition of the South, which they say has not improved during the year. The southern leaders are determined to make the religious division permanent. Although slavery no longer furnishes a pretext for separation, and we are by God's decree one nation and one people, they seek to make the South a sealed land against every influence from the North.

—Methodism in the six New England States numbers 105,000 members, 121,000 Sunday school scholars, 910 churches and 420 parsonages valued at $4,200,000.

—In November, 1863, the king of Abyssinia, through angry spite at the neglect of the English Government to answer a letter he had written to Queen Victoria, requesting permission to send an ambassador to England, seized two German missionaries and the English consul, and put them in chains. They have since been subjected to every indignity, the king rejecting all appeals for their release, and sending them word that he should not kill them, but should torture them at regular intervals, till the flesh should fall in rotten pieces from them. Their imprisonment and cruel treatment excited great indignation in England. Mr. Rassam was appointed to negotiate for their release, which he has finally, by great tact and patience, secured, and the captives are on their way home.

—"My dear friends," said a returned missionary at one of the late anniversary meetings, "let us avoid sectarian bitterness. The inhabitants of Hindostan, where I have been laboring for so many years, have approved that though you bathe a dog's tail in oil, and bind it in splints, you cannot get the crook out of it. Now, a man's sectarian bias is simply the crook in the dog's tail, which cannot be eradicated; and I hold that every one should be allowed to wag his own peculiarity in peace!"

THE FIRST BURNING OF PORTLAND.—The recent conflagration in Portland has suggested many references to the time when the place was destroyed by the British fleet in the Revolution. This event took place in October, 1775.—Several months before the Declaration of Independence. The inhabitants were entirely unprepared for anything of the kind when, on the 16th of October, a detachment of five vessels, from the British fleet stationed at Boston, appeared in the harbor of the town, then known as Falmouth. The commander of the squadron, Capt. Mowatt, the next day sent an officer on shore with a letter to inform the inhabitants that he had been sent "to execute a just punishment on the town" for their "most unpardonable rebellion," and that two hours would be allowed "to remove the human species out of the town." This letter, being publicly read in the town house, naturally caused great consternation.

A committee of citizens waited on the British officer in his ship, and obtained a respite until the next morning. He offered to await the answer of an express to be sent to Boston, if the inhabitants would surrender all the arms and ammunition in their hands.—This the people nobly refused to do; and the night was spent in removing the arms, the women and children, and the sick, to a safe spot in the interior. Promptly at the hour appointed next morning, the British vessels opened fire. The bombardment was kept up with the utmost vigor all day, but it not proving sufficiently destructive, parties of marines were sent ashore in boats to fire the buildings. There was some resistance, and several of the incendiaries were killed and wounded; but the people having no organization, and very little powder, nothing effectual was done to stop the work of destruction. The buildings were all of wood; and the flames spread with great rapidity, until three-quarters of the town were laid in ruins. Four hundred and fourteen buildings were burned in all, and about one hundred and sixty families were made houseless. Among the structures destroyed were a handsome new court house, an Episcopalian church, the town-house, custom-house, all the wharves, and all the vessels in the harbor. Very little furniture or other property was saved, owing to a scarcity of teams for the work of removal. The public library and a new fire engine were burned.

Of course there was great destitution and suffering. The provincial Congress soon after made a grant of money and corn to the victims of the fire, and subsequently other grants were made, and the taxes of the town abated. A committee appointed to ascertain the exact amount of the losses reported that the sum total was fifty-four thousand five hundred and twenty-seven pounds thirteen shillings, the amounts set to the names of individuals on the list, ranging from over two thousand pounds down to two pounds. At the close of the war of the Revolution an appeal for aid was made to the sympathizing people of England, Ireland and France; but it does not appear that any response was made. In 1781 the General Court made a grant of two townships to the sufferers of Falmouth, which however did not result in any practical benefit to them.—[Boston Advertiser.

DARING HIGHWAY ROBBERY. We find the following in the Rockport, Missouri, Journal of June 30th. Mr. Clark who is mentioned has been postmaster of Rockport since the advent of President Lincoln. He went from Newcastle, this State, and is a brother of Hon. Isaac Clark, Land Agent of Maine:

About one o'clock, on Friday night of last week, the stage from St. Joseph to Council Bluffs, was stopped by two men, this side of Mound City, near Lake Tarkio, and the passengers robbed of their pocket money, watches, &c., they had on their persons. Mr. E. L. Clark, who was one of the passengers on the coach, had $8,000 taken from him, which belonged to Messrs. F. M. Thompson and Brother, and when Mr. Clark had drawn from the bank, previous to his departure from St. Joseph. The robbers made the attack on the coast from the rear, firing three or four shots in to the windows, and one shot passed through the boot, one mail bag and through the back part of the coach, wounding a passenger that was lying down, in the hip and finally lodged inside of Mr. Clark's hat, cutting the skin sufficient to make the blood run. Another ball went through the window, passed through the forward end of the coach, wounding the driver slightly in the leg below the knee.—Finding that none of the passengers were armed they were ordered to get out and disgorge. Mr. Clark had hopes of saving this package of money, threw it out into the woods, by the side of the road, but one of the robbers suspecting this made a search and found the package, when both parties made off with their booty, with all possible speed.

SLAVERY IN VIRGINIA. Judge Sheffey, of the Circuit Court of Nelson county, Va., has decided that slavery was not abolished in Virginia till the 10th of April, 1865, when the Confederate and State governments were superseded by the military power of the United States, and the Alexandria government and constitution extended over the State. He holds that President Lincoln's emancipation proclamation abolishing slavery after Jan. 1, 1863, was a mere brutum fulmen. The case arose out of a question of contract in which a slave woman was exchanged for other property March 11, 1865. One side contended that she was a free woman at the time of the contract, which the other denied.

WASHINGTON, July 9.

The Republican of this morning denies authoritatively that Forney's letter to the President dated Jan. 9 was marked "private and confidential," and expresses its gratification that Forney has given permission to have other epistles so marked published, saying:

"The specimen of his writings yet unpublished indorsing fully the restoration policy of Andrew Johnson, hailing him as the coming chief of the Democratic party and expressing joy at the defeat of Hamlin at Baltimore, is the freshest specimen of villainy that ever emanated from the pen of Forney, not even excepting his Forest and Custom House Letters."

INCOMBUSTIBLE GUNPOWDER. An English chemist, after experimenting some years, has at last discovered a practicable and easy method of making gunpowder non-explosive, and even incombustible, so that it can be safely stored or transported in any quantities, and remain perfectly safe for any length of time, and yet, when wanted for use, be speedily and easily restored to its former and normal condition. Common glass when heated to a white heat is easily pulverized to a fineness exceeding that of the finest flour, and the grains of powder, by an easy and cheap process are so enveloped with this substance as to be alike impervious to fire and water. When wanted for use, the powder is readily separated from it by a simple piece of machinery. The English government has thoroughly and satisfactorily tested powder thus prepared, as we see by an article from the London Times.

PRESIDENTIAL VISIT TO THE WEST. It is said that the President and Secretary Seward have signified their intention of being present at the laying of the corner stone of the Douglas monument, at Chicago, as soon as Congress adjourns. Mr. Seward will deliver the eulogy. While in the West the President and Mr. Seward are also expected to visit Madison, Wis., and possibly one or two other Western cities.

THE LUMBERING INTEREST OF THE ST. CROIX. The Secretary of the Treasury has issued an order that before admitting to entry any importation under the provisions of the act to protect American citizens engaged in lumbering on the St. Croix river in the State of Maine, customs officers will require the presentation of a manifest accompanied by the necessary oaths.

FOR GOVERNOR.

Gen. J. L. CHAMBERLAIN

For Representatives to Congress.

1st Dist.—JOHN LYNCH, Portland.
2d Dist.—SIDNEY PERHAM, Paris.
3d Dist.—JAMES G. BLAINE, Augusta.
4th Dist.—JOHN A. PETERS, Bangor.

THE NEW TARIFF BILL appears to be so exceptionable that its passage is more than doubtful as we believe. A Washington correspondent says that the Pennsylvanians are aware that they have overshot their mark. For once the New England representatives can deny that they have so framed the schedule of duties as a benefit to that section which many so earnestly desired to see "left out in the cold." Mr. Ross, of Illinois tried to indulge in the stereotyped sneer, but was yelled answered by Mr. Pike of Maine, who said:

The gentleman of Illinois has repeated some half dozen times that this is a New England tariff, and that New England wants protection for her manufacturers. Now that simply shows the instention of the gentleman to the business of the House. If he had been here, and had attended to the House for the last week or ten days, he would have known the fact that although many gentlemen on the floor have been constantly proposing amendments to increase the duties provided for in the report of the Committee on Ways and Means, but one New England gentleman has risen here to propose an increase. That was my friend from Massachusetts (Mr. Dawes), whose proposition was to increase the duty on glass ware a quarter of a cent. Now I have to say this—that while New England has not any increase. She constantly asked decrease. I myself have sometimes asked a decrease of these duties. Other New England men around me have several times asked a decrease of these duties. In no instance except the one I have spoken of has any New England man asked for an increase. The gentleman from Illinois knows so little about this tariff bill as not to know that this is a Western tariff bill, got up for the benefit of the West, originating in a desire there to protect wool, starting there and sweeping from the West over into the coal and iron mines of Pennsylvania and going backward and forward between the West on one side and Pennsylvania on the other. New England is "out in the cold." She does not care to-day one red whether this tariff bill goes until December or March next, or into a distant future.

The independent attitude thus taken by Mr. Pike and by other gentlemen from New England has produced a wholesome effect upon the Pennsylvanians. It is said that they will consent to a reduction of the proposed duty of one dollar and fifty cents per ton imposed on Nova Scotia coal to one dollar, and a reduction of the proposed duty of $20 per ton on railroad iron to sixteen dollars per ton.

The North west was conciliated by a reduction of the duty on ten from 25 cents per pound to 12½ cents per pound, and a reduction of the duty on coffee from 5 cents per pound to 2½ cents per pound.

The agricultural interests of Maine, New York and the North western States were also conciliated by imposed duties of two dollars per ton on hay, two cents per bushel on corn, 40 cents per bushel on wheat, 20 cents per bushel on potatoes and 30 per cent ad valorem on timothy and clover seed. These concessions may insure the passage of the bill—otherwise impossible by the House—and it will remain to be seen whether the Senate will consider and pass the bill or postpone it until December.

A PROPOSED CHANGE IN THE SYSTEM OF APPOINTMENTS TO OFFICE. The New York Evening Post refers to the fact that Senator Gratz Brown, of Missouri, proposed last week a reform, which seems necessary to the future welfare of the republic. He suggests that the whole body of civil servants of the general government—the postmasters, collectors, tide-waiters, and clerks, be put under the same rules as to their appointment, promotion and removal from office, as are now applied in the army and the navy. He does not, of course, mean to convert them into a military organization, but simply that, like our naval and army officers, they be appointed upon examination as to their fitness, be promoted to higher grades as vacancies occur, hold their commissions during good behavior, and be subject to dismissal after trial.

It is well, says an old maxim, to learn from the enemy. In the provisional Constitution of the defunct Confederacy there was a clause which made the tenure of all subordinate civil offices just what Mr. Brown suggests. Members of the Cabinet and ambassadors to foreign countries were, we believe, excepted from the rule. It is manifest, that to accomplish the reform which Mr. Brown has in view, an amendment to the Constitution will be needed. A law of Congress is a mere temporary remedy, it may, sooner or later, be repealed. The object is not to deprive any one President of his powers of removal and appointment but to relieve the Presidential office once for all of its heavy burden of patronage. Every day, with the growth of the country, this patronage is increasing. It is said we know not with what accuracy, that now-a-days more than half of the President's time is required for the consideration of appointments to office. If this be so, then in another generation the whole of his time will scarcely suffice for these things, and his important duties will be left, of necessity, to the Cabinet ministers and other subordinates.

By consentaneous man the vast patronage of the Presidential office, with its accompaniments of petitions from competing claimants, interviews with their friends, demands from members of Congress and the like annoyances, must be felt as a grievous burden. In the hands of a bad man it is a powerful weapon for corrupting our politics and enslaving the people. In fact, whether dispensed by a good or a bad man, the official patronage of the general government acts as a degrading element in our political contests, and is dangerous to our future."

Baxgor and Piscataquis Railroad.

To the Editor of the Daily Whig:

The inch of Piscataquis are moving with a result for a railroad,—and will and effort enough can dig down hills, fill up valleys, and do everything that properly should be done, and sometimes will accomplish objects not used to all proper.

A railroad from Dover to Dexter must succeed to a certainty one, or at least any observing man on viewing the proposed route cannot fail of being strongly impressed with the opinion that it must be so. A thousand dollars makes but little show in digging through a hard ledge. A route for a railroad from Dover via Dead or Birch Stream, to Stillwater, may be found as level as the bed of the river, with no ledge to cut through, nor deep filling to be made, till within a short distance of the bridge over the Pushaw Stream, near its mouth, with the exception of one horseback, where the gravel from the cut would be worth much more for the road than it would cost to make it.

Some ten or twelve miles below Dover, the Piscataquis river would have to be bridged, and from that bridge to near the bridge that connects Dover and Foxcroft, the route would be over the table lands, lying between the interval and the high lands, on almost a dead level and straight line.

In the judgment of the writer, the same money that would grade the road from Dover to Dexter, would bridge the Piscataquis river, and grade a road from Dover to within five miles of the depot at Upper Stillwater.

What will our Piscataquis friends gain from a railroad to Dexter and Newport, but to exhaust their money and mortgage their real estate? They must still seek another outlet for their productions, at some point where slip navigation can be met, and the nearest port is Bangor. Such a road would be a great convenience, especially to Dover and Foxcroft, and the principal burden of building the road would fall on those towns, as it should. But would such a road meet the wants of secure the co-operation of the people generally? We think not.

The eastern part of the county can furnish any amount of freight, but if they had railroad communication with Newport to-day, it is not at all probable that they would send their freight over that road. We believe they could get it to Bangor cheaper.

Mr. Editor, I have some thoughts that may be worthy the consideration of those more directly interested in this matter, and perhaps may write again upon the subject at my convenience.

PENOBSCOT.

THE SOUTH AND THE PHILADELPHIA CONVENTION. The Richmond Enquirer publishes the indorsement of the call for the August convention at Philadelphia, but expresses doubts whether after all it will be politic for that class of the Southern people whose opinions it represents to meddle with the affair at all. The Southern people, it says, are all "confederate," heart and soul—yet even some democratic papers are fastidious enough to hint that "loyal," or "unconditional" delegates only should be sent to this convention. If any offense to discrimination is to be made between loyalty and treason,—if Scots is to be preferred to Breckinridge,—the Enquirer wishes to be told so frankly, and will refuse to have anything to do with a convention which bears the suspicious title of "National Union." It "respectfully and with insistence urges the question upon its Northern, democratic cotemporaries," and propounds direct inquiries which the parties interrogated will probably not find it convenient to answer.

The Portland Insurance Losses—Solvency of the Companies.

We have obtained from Messrs. Plummer & Sons, Insurance Agents of this city, the following statement of losses of the several insurance companies by the great fire in Portland, together with the capital and surplus of each company as reported to the Insurance Commissioners of the several States on the 1st of January last. The statement comprises about $3,500,000 of the losses, and probably embraces more than three-fourths of the whole. Several of the statements are only approximate estimates. It will be seen that the companies are all amply able to meet their losses, except the Portland, and perhaps one or two others.

THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH. Four attempts to lay a telegraph cable across the Atlantic have failed, involving great commercial loss; but even out of this evil, says the London Times, has come some good, for in the interim the science of making, testing and laying cable has so much improved that an undetected fault in an insulated wire has become literally impossible, while so far are the instruments for signalling improved that not only can a slight fault be discarded, if necessary, but it is even easy to work through a submarine wire with a piece of its copper stripped and bare to the water. Out of a length of 1700 miles of the cable a coil was taken from the centre, the copper conductor stripped clean of its insulation for a foot in length, and in this condition lowered over the Great Eastern's side till it touched the ground. Yet a rough test at the time of this clearest signal that could have been sent—so clear, indeed, as to raise the question whether it would not be worth while to grapple for the first old Atlantic cable ever laid, and with these new instruments working gently through it for a year or so, at least, make it pay its cost. In a few days we shall have the result of the third attempt at laying an Atlantic cable.

After reading three days our neighbor of the Times pays a his parting compliments. His P. P. C. is a weekly affair—says the Whig desires to insch the vote of the Union party! Our neighbor also, makes another clear mis-statement, when it says "the Whig started out"—with the insane idea of insidiously drawing the friends of Gen. Chamberlain over to the support of President Johnson's "policy," and into opposition to Congress. That's it.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION OF THE REJECTED OF THE NATION. The Boston Transcript says: Certain Copperhead Republicans, finding not only that they have no support in Congress, but that they have been repudiated by their constituents, have issued a call for a National Convention. Their desperate purpose is to get, if possible, a popular indorsement of what has been rejected by the people, namely, that series of personal crotchets, disguised in constitutional language and known as "My Policy." All the cunning foxes that have lost their tails, are on this document,—Doolittle, Browning, Cowan, Nesmith, and Dixon; and their desire that the whole race of foxes should follow their example is most plaintively expressed. But we think there is little likelihood that a race of politicians, whose only distinction consists in the betrayal of their constituents and the abandonment of their political connections, can do much more than organize a small trading faction, ready to sell out to the Democrats the moment the latter consent to pay a sufficiently high price.

—Mr. John Whitton, a driver for a telegraph construction train in Leavenworth, was killed by lightning a short time since. He had reason to lift the telegraph line off the ground, when a flash of lightning struck the line at that point, tearing it into small pieces and instantly killing him. Two men who saw the accident state that they observed a ball of fire as large as a man's fist issue from Whitton's breast.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

PITTSBURGH, May 10, 1866.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith,—Gentlemen—During a visit in the West last fall, I contracted chills and fever, which brought me to my bed, and finally terminated in typhoid fever, during which time I was physically so prostrated that I almost despaired of ever recovering my health, having entirely lost my appetite for days, not being able to eat a morsel, added to which I was much distressed with a feeling sensation in my head, and passed many sleepless nights—all from debility caused by my prostrate condition, brought about by the fever. At this stage of my condition a friend recommended me to use your celebrated Stomach Bitters, but being mortally opposed to the use of stimulants in my form, I at first declined, but afterwards yielded to my friend's wishes, and after taking the medicine for several weeks, as directed, my appetite returned, and with it I am rapidly regaining my former vigor and strength. My sleep (from the loss of which I had suffered much) has never been better than it is now, and the reeling sensation (before alluded to) has entirely left me. My bowels, which were much constipated and irregular, are now quite natural, and in fact I am glad to say that I feel myself a new man, and tender you this testimonial of my appreciation of your valuable preparation in order that others suffering as I have may avail themselves of its virtues, which prejudice prevented me from enjoying for so long a period. I may also add that my physician after seeing the beneficial effect your Bitters had on me, recommended that I use them regularly. Yours, very respectfully,

To the Public of Bangor and Vicinity.

Having been requested, in common with others, to contribute in aid of the sufferers by the late disastrous fire in Portland, I very much regret my inability to do anything directly in behalf of so laudable an object. My poverty and not my will conducts me to the saying that, to any of my suffering brethren in this great calamity.

My residence of four years abroad, while it added but little to my pecuniary resources, has enabled me to treasure up some interesting incidents of foreign travel and observation, pertaining mainly to Spanish characteristics and scenes; embracing some sketches of Granada and the far-famed Alhambra, as well as Valencia, my particular place of abode, while in Spain. These views and observations I have embodied in the form of a poetical lecture, occupying perhaps an hour in the delivery, which I should gladly recite publicly as a humble contribution in aid of our Portland brethren; and for this purpose would give notice that I will lecture at the City Hall in Bangor, on Thursday next the 12th inst., at 8 o'clock P. M.

Tickets, at twenty-five cents each, or five for a dollar, will be for sale seasonably at the Bookstores and at the door of the Lecture Hall in the evening.

P. S. Hon. A. G. Wakefield, Mayor, has kindly consented to take charge of the avails of the Lecture, for the purpose specified, to be paid over to him by the several venders of tickets. An Effectual Worm Medicine.

BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS,

OR Worm Lozenges. Much sickness, undoubtedly, with fevers and adults, attributed to other diseases, arises by worms. The VERMIFUGE COMFITS, is the most effectual in destroying worms, and the most delicate and safe remedy that can be administered to children, fully and effectually carrying off the worms without the least injury to the most delicate constitution. This valuable combination has been successfully used by thousands, and found to be safe and effectual in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children.

An Invaluable Spring Medicine.

by DR. J. W. POLAND'S

HUMOR DOCTOR.

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Dr. P. in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1848, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it (so the people say,) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty." This preparation is compounded wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot. Suffice it to say, the "Doctor" is used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies, it is very grateful to the stomach.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, July 10.

SENATE.

Mr. Stewart submitted a resolution requesting the President to interpose the good offices of the United States to secure the release of persons held as prisoners in Canada and elsewhere for participation in Fenian movements, which was laid over.

Mr Poland introduced a bill to extend time to the Alabama & Florida Railroad for the payment of duty on railroad iron. Referred.

The House bill to fix the number of judges of the U. S. Supreme Court, and to change certain judicial circuits, was passed.

It provides that no vacancy in office of Associate Justices shall be filled until the number shall be reduced to six, and makes certain changes in places of holding the Circuit Court of the United States.

The bill for the enlargement of the public grounds surrounding the Capitol passed.

The bill repealing the act retroceding Alexandria to Virginia was debated and postponed until to-morrow.

The bill granting land titles to California was taken up and all the House amendments but one concurred in.

The Senate then went into Executive session.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr Morrill spoke in favor of the bill but asserting that demands for a higher tariff came less from New England than from any other quarter.

Mr Delano thought this bill ought to be passed, even with all its imperfections, as it was the first tariff bill which approached to anything like just protection to the agricultural interests.

Mr Boutwell, in response to a remark of Mr Delano, said New England did not want to be held responsible for this tariff bill.

Mr Hubbard of Conn., said he should vote for it, as it promoted all the interests of his State.

Mr Hooper of Mass., said he should vote for this bill; but when the currency returns to a coin standard, lower rates would better promote the prosperity of the country.

Several amendments were offered.

The tax on cotton was fixed at 3 cents.

The amendment made in committee of the whole, increasing the duty on pig iron from $9 to $10 per ton was disagreed to.

The amendment made in the committee of the whole, striking out crash from the articles paying six cents per yard, and 30 per cent ad valorem was agreed to.

The discrimination favoring coal from the British Provinces was stricken out, so that all imported coal pays 1.50 per ton.

All amendments increasing duties on agricultural products were agreed to.

The lowest tax on lumber was fixed at $2 per 1000 feet.

The duty on tea was reduced to 12 cents per pound and on coffee to 2½ cents per pound.

All the other amendments reported by the committee of the whole were considered and agreed to.

An amendment was then adopted reducing the duty on railroad iron to 70 cents per hundred pounds.

An amendment allowing five years grace to the Alabama railroad company was disagreed to.

The duty on silks in packages was reduced from 40 to 35 cents, and in bulk from 80 to 24 cents per hundred pounds.

Motion to strike out the section organizing a bureau of statistics was disagreed to.

All the amendments had now been disposed of.

Mr Washburne of Ill. moved that the bill be recommitted to committee on ways and means, with instructions to report at next session.

The motion to reconsider the vote removing discrimination in favor of coal from the British Provinces was laid on the table.

The bill was then passed—94 to 53.

Notice was then given that the contested election case of Fuller against Dawson of Pa. would be called up to-morrow.

Adjourned.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

THE EXCURSION TO PORTLAND. As before announced, an excursion train leaves here this morning at six o'clock for Portland. Superintendent Noyes has made ample arrangements to accommodate all so that there will be no one looking for "standing places". There will be abundant time to view the ruins in Portland and return, without the necessity of stopping at a hotel, as the few that are left uncathed by the fire are crowded to their utmost capacity.

The steamer Lady Lang, Capt. Whitmore makes an excursion to Portland to-day, leaving this city at 5 o'clock, A. M., and returning at 11 o'clock, P. M. Half fare. The trip will be a pleasure one in this fine weather.

DANFORTH'S NEW BLOCK on Central St. is nearly completed. Corresponding in style of architecture and finish with the stores occupied by Messrs. Greenough & Dummer and Norton & Farrington, the whole gives a block with six handsome and convenient stores. The proprietors of the Mutual Store have engaged the two stores nearest to their present one, and will take possession about the 10th of August.

—In Police Court on the 5th inst., Thos. Welch and —— Shaw were committed for trial at the Supreme Court for stealing flannel and other articles amounting to about $60, from the store of Sweden S. Patten in Circular Block. Bail was fixed by Judge Humphrey at $500 each.

—A. T. D. Dodge, Esq., formerly of this city, has just moved into the Clarendon Hotel, Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C., which he proposes to make a first class hotel.

—The Portland fire will make another change necessary in the programme of the Democratic State Convention. It is now called for the 7th of August, at the "New City Hall", Portland. We suggest that, as there must be a change of place made, the committee also change the time once more, so as to have it subsequent to Mr. Johnson's convention at Philadelphia. The "Democracy" will probably want to adopt the platform of that convention, and perhaps formally as well as really join the Johnson party.

BUILDING IN PORTLAND. The Press says that Messrs. Byron Greenough & Co. have made a contract for the erection of a store on their lot on Middle street. The engagements for rebuilding were made within twelve hours after their store was destroyed. J. B. Brown, Eben Sage, and the International Bank have decided to rebuild Merchants' Row, extending from Union street to Plum street, and men have been engaged to make a commencement immediately. The Casco National Bank will commence the erection of a new banking house on their lot without delay.

—The Ellsworth Journal says:—"The porgy fleet spoken of in our last issue was prosecuted by the people of Brooklyn for violation of the law, and, finding they were likely to lose all their boats and apparatus, they settled with the complainants and agreed to leave. The County Commissioners took prompt action to protect our fishermen in their rights."

—A correspondent of the Bath Times, in view of the great fire in Portland, directs the attention of the people of Sagadahoc county to the insecurity against fire of the Records of Deeds, the Probate and Supreme Judicial Courts, as well as that of the County Commissioners Court. Are our Penobscot county rooms absolutely fireproof?

—The "Arrowsic Emery Mining and Manufacturing Company" has just been organized at Bath, with the following officers:—Directors, J. Parker Morse, C. T. Greenleaf, W. H. Sweet, R. A. Fisher, G. E. Harding; President, J. Parker Morse—as we hear from an exchange.

—It is rumored that Professor Upham of Bowdoin College will resign his professorship at the next Commencement. The Junior and Sophomore classes have unanimously signed a petition asking him to remain.—The "Bowdoin Roll of Honor" is to form a part of Adjutant General Hodsdon's forthcoming report, having been prepared at the request of the Adjutant General by Prof. A. S. Packard of the college.—[Press.

—The Freemasons of Lewiston are taking measures to aid their suffering brethren in Portland, as we see by the Journal. Ashlar Lodge voted for this purpose $100, and King Hiram Chapter also $100, at a special meeting held Friday evening.

—There were creatures in Portland who charged $60 to $100 a load for removing furniture. There were MEN who worked themselves at their teams for many hours, and would not receive any compensation.

CHANGE OF POSTMASTER IN ELLSWORTH. Mr. John F. Whitcomb has been appointed postmaster of Ellsworth in place of Mr. Lemuel D. Jordan, whose first term had expired.

—A terrible destruction of sheep recently took place in Michigan, according to one of our western exchanges. After a very cold storm in the latter part of June, thousands of them, recently sheared and not housed, took fatal colds and died. The account says the estimate of loss amounts to not less than one hundred thousand in number.

—A Baltimore court has just decided that no title can be legally acquired in property won in a raffle. This is one of the pleasant features of the gift enterprise business. The plaintiff in the case referred to clearly drew a sewing machine, but the law had no remedy for the winner as against the owner of the raffle. It is all illegal and without the province or protection of law.

—A Nashville despatch of the 22d says that Gen. Fiske sent a corporal and squad of soldiers to Jackson county, Tennessee, to liberate a colored boy about sixteen years of age, whom a white man in that county persists in holding in slavery. This man maintains that since the abolition of the Freedmen's Courts slavery has been restored in Tennessee.

—The venerable John Bull, who, as a foreign correspondent says, has fought, with or without cause, everybody, everywhere, has turned Quaker, and is lecturing the Prussians, Austrians and Italians on the folly and wickedness of war, as he has lectured us during our conflict.

—During the month of May, the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad carried 420,000 tons of coal, besides which it also carried about 100,000 tons of miscellaneous freights and a very large number of passengers. The coal carrying capacity is now, with its present rolling stock, about 120,000 tons a week. During the month of May, its average daily coal tonnage, excluding Sundays, was 16,500 tons, for each secular day of the month.

—Records from the 4th Auditor's office show that during the rebellion the naval force of the United States captured over fifteen hundred prizes, some of which were worth as high as $200,000, besides these, some important captures of corn, rice and cotton were made.

—The Marquis of Lorn, excepting the royal family the "first young man in England", is on on a visit to this country, and carries his own carpet-bag to the railroad station, like a free and independent citizen.

—A trunk belonging to an army officer who a year and a half ago left an unpaid board bill at a Louisville hotel, has just been opened and found to contain a Mexican horned toad, lively, cheerful and not a bit hungry.

—Apropos of typographical blunders, the New Haven Palladium says:—"We believe it was our predecessor, Mr. Babcock, who, in an energetic editorial, exclaimed, "Is there no balm in Gilead?" Imagine his consternation, next morning, to find his elaborately wrought sentence turned with the startling question—"Is there no barn in Guilford?"

A party of children, while playing about three miles from Augusta, Ga., on Tuesday, discovered a large lump of gold in a ravine. The specimen found weighed eleven ounces. Preparations are being made to prospect the ravine. Several smaller lumps were picked up in the vicinity.

What General Chamberlain Says.

All must unite in demanding security for the future. We must have guarantees good and sufficient, against any future attempt to destroy this Government whether in the exercise of a pretended right by open war or BY MORE ARTFUL AND INSIDIOUS ASSAULTS against the principles on which this Nation was founded. These are points we cannot yield without danger and dishonor; and WHEN THE SOUTHERN STATES SHALL HAVE COMPLIED WITH THESE CONDITIONS IN GOOD FAITH, they will be in accordition to ask association and fellowship with the loyal commonwealths of the country which they deserted with such violence and scorn. UNTIL THAT TIME, in my judgment, it is wise to hold them in strict probation.

REMEMBRANCES.

When unto dust, like sunny flowers donated,
From our dim paths the bright and lovely fade;
The fair form—the free and gentle-hearted,
Whose locks within the breast a Sabbath made;
How like a whisper in the inconstant wind,
The memory of their voices disturb the mind!

We hear the song—the joyous laughter,
That from their lips of old were wont to flow;
When hope's beguiling plume they hurried after,
Ere their pale temples wore the locks of snow;
When Joy's bright harp to sweetest tones was strung,
And poured rich numbers for the loved and young!

When the pale stars are burning high in heaven,
When the low night-winds kiss the flowering tree,
And thoughts are deepening in the hush of even,
How soft their services in the heart will be!
They breathe of raptures which have bloomed and died—
Of sorrows by remembrance sanctified!

Yet, from our pathway when the loved have vanished,
What powerful magic can their smiles restore!
Like a rich sunburst by the tempest banished,
They passed in darkness—they will come no more!
Unlike the day beams when the storm hath fled—

What Buttons Have Done.

We must go back nearly forty years. Then all the buttons used by Americans were imported. But a shrewd Yankee lady, the young wife of a man in humble circumstances, was seized with the idea of manufacturing buttons at home and by hand. She picked some imported buttons in pieces, and was satisfied that with wooden moths she could produce buttons that would find as good a market as the imported ones. Her idea was seconded by her husband, who was a thrifty farmer in a country village in Western Massachusetts. A few buttons were made, and these found a ready market. Little by little, month after month, the ideas grew, until the persistent wife had more than she could do herself, and laborers were employed to assist in the manufacture. The husband, finding himself outdone, abandoned farming, and devoted his energies to the new business. Machinery was devised to accelerate matters. A factory was built. The enterprise grew with amazing proportions. Other factories went up. A village clustered around the button enterprise. Wealth flowed in upon the proprietor. Factories were built for making suspenders, for making India-rubber webbing, and factories for cotton spinning. With every year the project grew apace until the proprietor could be named among the millionaires.

Out of the proceeds of the button manufacture a seminary was established, which is doubtless at the head of schools for young men in this country. A church was built, and accidently burned. Another was built, and shared a similar fate. A third was built without delay, each being handsomer than its predecessor. Alcollege was in trouble. The proceeds of buttons came to its relief and placed it upon enduring foundations—a college that has sent its men around the world to do good and help civilize. A young ladies' seminary was the next plan—the first of any account in this country. Again the button purse flew open, and the school that had been a model for at least half a dozen others was firmly founded. And all this time very few outside of these villages knew who did it all. In fact, we know of no instance where so much has been done by an individual without its being trumpeted to the world. Nor have we named half of the benefactions which came from the button success. A college in the West was helped to a permanent footing. A ladies' seminary in the West also kindly remembered. A college in Syria, having the grandest plan at its foundation, was generously aided. And all the time new buildings were being added to the institutions which he had chiefly established, and for which he supplied the money. During the past season he has completed a great factory at a cost of not far from half a million, and is now erecting a splendid dormitory building in connection with the school which bears his name. This is in part what buttons have done and are doing.

Many persons will like to know the name of the 'button prince'—some few have already divined it—the name of Samuel Williston, of Easthampton, Massachusetts. In all these years of noble deeds and ever increasing success, Mr. Williston has shunned publicity, and we know that he will feel no pleasure at seeing his name used in this way. He is now seventy years of age, but still manages all his own affairs and executes details with wonderful energy. He career has been truly remarkable, and is well worth a more fitting record than this little article can give. Misfortunes have never daunted him in the least, although some very severe vicissitudes have swept over his business. His own manner of living is plain, and he seldoms stops for personal pleasure or rest. Greater plans yet we believe he has in his keeping, the fruit of which will become apparent before many months. It is a real pleasure to chronicle the work of such a man. While his intelligent distribution of aid has caused his influence to be felt around the world, but still he shuns notoriety and has never in any way put himself forward. His name deserves a place beside those of Peabody, Lawrence, and the other good and true Americans who have used their privilege of wealth with discretion and liberality.—[Round Table.

A RATHER TOUGH STORY. Among the 'characters' who have passed away during the past few years, is one who was known far and near as 'Old Hat,' though how he earned this respectful appellation is to the writer unknown. But he bore it well, and always answered to it. He came to Western New York at an early day, secured a competence, and then, resting on his well-earned honor, passed his years at the grocery, the shoemaker's, and the tavern, telling the most prodigious yarns that mortals ever heard. Here is one he used to tell with honesty and sincerity beaming from every feature:

'Yes,' Old Hat would say, 'that was a curious circumstance; but it's true every word of it—true as I stand here. You see one of my horses was taken sick when I was plowing, and it died in less than ten minutes. It was powerful sudden. I never see the beat on't, and I felt bad, I tell you; but the animal was dead, and I was in a mighty hurry; so I just cut the hide open, hitched the other hoss to it, and—off it come!—Well, I did it up and sent it to the tannery, but pretty soon I saw the old hoss wasn't quite dead. It began to kick and breathe regular, and fust I knew it was up on its feet lookin' round, and not a bit of hide on exceptin round the head. Well, you see it couldn't live so long, so I thought I'd try an experiment. I took four—no, three—no, it was four sheep—I want to keep the truth—and skinned 'em, put their hides right on to the old hoss, tied them on tight, and they growed right tight, to the critters, except a leetle spot on the fore-shoulder, and that I cured up in a little while. It's a fact, and some years I shears more'n forty pounds of fine wool off from that ar hoss—justas true as I stand here! And Old Hat's face would beam with such a genial self-satisfaction at his ingenuity, that so many with candor, that few were found who dared to show suspicion to this terrible [illegible] skill.

DISARMED!

DR. CARTARET'S DISINFECTING FLUID,
Secured by Letters Patent in the United States and France. Prepared solely by the New York Disinfecting Company, at their Laboratory, Nos. 98, 100 and 102 Henry Street, N. Y. Office, 42 Cedar Street.
This Company, organized on a permanent basis, with ample means, the celebrated French Chemist, in charge of its Laboratory, is prepared to furnish its DISINFECTING FLUID for sick rooms, nurseries, urinals, water closets, hospitals, prisons, sewers, gutters, ships, railroads, hospitals, prisons, and public institutions of all kinds, slaughter-houses, offal, and fat boiling establishments; all kinds of manures (immensely increasing the value of the latter to every farmer), and wherever poisonous and offensive gases exist. These agents are deodorizers and antidotes, and disinfectants, and disinfectants in the strictest meaning of the words. They remove noxious gases and odors by chemical principles—leaving their places healthful air; they are DESTROYERS and not merely absorbents of poisonous gases, and in circumstances in which they are used—The attention of medical and scientific men is directed to the disinfectants. Attached are testimonials in favor of this great discovery, which, with numerous others can be seen at the Company's office.
DELAVAN HOUSE, ALBANY, March 30, 1866.

DEAR SIR: It is all it is represented to be. We have made many trials of disinfectants, but now consider that we have found an article which surpasses all others as a remedy against all bad odors.

Notice to the Public!
In the year 1846, the writer embarked in the Drug Business in the city of Philadelphia, and while thus engaged, made several experiments in regard to the most desirable mode of preparing Fluid Extracts. My efforts being successful—the articles being approved and extensively used by the Medical Faculty—I was desirous of placing them before the public, but hesitated for some time before concluding to resort to newspaper advertising, knowing the prejudice that existed in the minds of many against using advertised Medicines or Nostrums, but through the advice of friends and those who had used them this objection was overcome.
After 18 years' exertion, commencing in a small way, the popularity of my articles has extended to all parts of the United States, and widely through out foreign countries—and this in the face of much opposition. Every means has been resorted to by unprincipled dealers since their merit and success have been known—such as advertising larger bottles at less price, counterfeiting all other preparations, and even copying my advertisements—but I am happy to state that out of the many who have resorted to this, none have been successful.

MY OBJECT
In this notice is to make facts known to the public and respectable dealers, believing, after so many years' efforts, that the Druggists will discountenance such proceedings, and that the reputation of my articles may not be damaged by use of inferior, or spurious ones.
Knowing that many may read this article who are unacquainted with me, I append a few remarks from those of my numerous city, and whose names are known in all parts of the world:
"Being personally acquainted with Mr. R. T. Holmbold, it affords me pleasure in stating I have been most favorably impressed with his energy and integrity, and eminent success."
WM. WRIGHTMAN.
Firm of Powers & Weightman,
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.]
"When on a visit to the city of New York a few days since, I was induced to call on our old friend and townsman Mr. R. T. Helmbold, Druggist, 594 Broadway, New York. His store is a Model—a perfect Gem—the handsomest of any kind we have ever had the pleasure of viewing, and so extensive, being 24 feet front, the highest height, and over 200 feet deep. It indeed affords us much pleasure to know that he has been so successful, and it is ample evidence of the merits of his articles—as in our whole business experience we have never known of the success of any article without Merit—advertising more widely bringing the name before the people."

[Boston Herald]
"We do not like to advertise worthless wares, or articles calculated to deceive our readers, and when we see an advertiser like Mr. Helmbold, whom we have known for years, gradually extend his advertising from year to year until he becomes the largest advertiser in the United States, we are satisfied that the statements in regard to his articles must be correct."

The writer reluctantly inserts the above, and would not do so were he not a stranger to many; and be excluded by filling the names of his articles, and the diseases for which they have been used by many thousands with complete success.
